Terry's 1941 Slate Is Toughest In Grid History

The most ambitious football schedule in Western's history has been arranged for the Hilltoppers for next fall. The schedule released today by Coach William L. Terry will open at Ashland on September 27 against Ellis Johnson's Morehead Eagles.

Tennessee State Teachers will be met at Murfreesboro the following week, and on successive Saturdays the Hilltoppers will pit their wares against Ohio University at Athens; Ohio and Marshall College at Huntington, West Virginia. The home season will open on October 26 against Rome Rankin's Eastern Maroons, following which the Hilltoppers will journey to Kalamazoo for a game against West Michigan.

Tennessee Tech will be met on November 8 at Cookeville, and on November 15 Howard College will come to Bowling Green to furnish the opposition. The final game of the season will be played on the local field against the Hilltoppers' arch-rivals, the Murray Thoroughbreds.

Of the ten teams on the schedule, Marshall is the only one that the Hilltoppers have never played. The Westerners defeated Ohio University 14-7 two years ago in their only meeting with the Buckeye team, and several years ago participated in a lengthy series with Howard College.

Morehead, Middle Tennessee, West Michigan, Tennessee Tech, and Murray were on last season's schedule, while Eastern, although not played last year, is one of Western's oldest rivals.

Coach Terry also announced that there is a possibility that a tenth team may be scheduled for September 20.

Craig Becomes Fishing Champ

Sometime ago the Herald nominated President Paul L. Garrett for all-American honors as a one-man bass catching team. At that time the president had just recently landed a five pound bass out at Perkins pond.

Now comes along Professor W. J. "Uncle Billy" Craig whose recent fishing exploits make Mr. Garrett's fishing achievement sound as if the president had been using dime store string and a safety pin.

Uncle Billy didn't bat an eye when he told a group following his return from Florida that he caught six bass in one afternoon that had a total weight of 26 pounds. Mr. Craig's catch was made at Ocala, Florida, where he was guest of Willards Uebles, former Western student.

If this article sounds fishy, the reader can check with Mrs. Craig because she was there when "Uncle Billy" yanked them out.

Herald Finds Library Work Literally Killing Students

By Lowell Harrison

An astounding survey just completed reveals that the Western student who says, "My library work is about to kill me," is telling the absolute truth. President Garrett, reading the commissioner's reports, exclaimed, "My goodness!" and immediately surrounded the indicated building with a strong cordon of R. O. T. C. dependables. An appeal was made to Washington for army regulars to replace the cadets who were unable to get class excuses.

The dangerous situation was discovered by a distinguished Committee of Doubtful Integrity, headed by Professor Yehudi. Their exhaustive report was enough to make one's

Dear Westerner:

I am sure you were filled with pride when you read in the public press during the current school year that the newspaper you are now reading had been adjudged the best college newspaper in Kentucky, that Western had again won the state oratorical contest, that your school had whipped Kalamazoo and Murray in football and Washington and Lee and Ohio University in basketball and that the state auditor had given emphatic praise to the management and personnel of Western. Did you ever head of so much good news from the old school?

We know there are many individuals who do not often appear in the public eye but who are diligent in the daily work of the institution and who are on the job for all of us. I say "all of us" because they are just as much interested in those who have been away ten years or more as in the most recent graduate.

Western's Flying Course Postponed

An announcement was made at Western Teachers College today that the program of Civilian Pilot Training which was to have started on College Heights in February, will not materialize due to a decision on the part of the Civil Aeronautics Authority not to increase the quotas for this spring.

Western was placed on the approved list by the C. A. A. inspectors several months ago, and had completed preparations for the inauguration of the program.

The notification from the C. A. A. came from Charles E. Cox, acting superintendent. In writing President Paul L. Garrett in regard to the change of plans, Mr. Cox said, "Quotas for the Spring phase of the Civilian Pilot Training program, beginning February 1, will remain the same as the fall phase; hence, there will be no opportunity to include the colleges heretofore unparticipating that have requested a unit of students for spring, beginning February 1."

"We apologize for the fact that this is, in some instances, a tardy

Senior Pictures Due For Talisman

The work on Western's 1941 yearbook is rapidly forging ahead. The editor, Maurice Sublett, announces that the layout has been completed and the contract for printing and engraving has been signed.

The editor is urging every senior to have his picture taken immediately at Franklin's Studio. The pictures of seniors of the Training School will be completed by tomorrow.

The sophomore and junior pictures will be taken at a booth that will be erected in the registration line, February 3. Those who fail to have their poses snapped registration day may do this any time the

A Message For All Western Alumni

We, the Alumni, are proud of Western, aren't we? Well, let's show it.

Won't you start the new year right by sending a message to a special friend of all of us, "Uncle Billy," or to Raymond Hornback whose interesting "Alumni Flashes" appear in each issue of the Herald, giving a sketch of your present activities so all of us may know what you are doing. If your membership in the Alumni Association has lapsed, I am sure that you are going to at least clip out the slip on page 3 in this issue of the Herald and send it with a dollar to "Uncle Billy." Since the College is now publishing the Herald it will be possible to continue sending it only to Alumni who pay the membership fee. Then I am sure each of us as a member of the Alumni Association is going to do much more in creating an even greater Western.

Sincerely yours,

FRANKLIN P. HAYS

President of Alumni Association.

Cards, Murray Face Toppers

For the second time in two months the Western Hilltoppers roll westward tomorrow to take on their perennial rivals, the Murray Thoroughbreds. This time the Hilltoppers will be riding high on the crest of a continuous string of eight victories, barring a possible upset tonight at the hands of the Louisville Cardinals, and they will be doing their utmost to maintain their perfect record.

As for the Thoroughbreds, on paper they are anywhere from 15 to 30 points inferior to the Toppers, but in a Murray-Western tilt, comparative scores mean little or nothing. Last week Western crushed Tennessee Tech 42-16, and Murray nosed out the Golden Eagles 30-22. The only other common foe was Cape Girardeau whom the Diddlemen trounced 42-23, and the Breds took into camp twice, 41-28 and 38-32.

Coach Cutchin has Salmons, Haines, Steffins, McKeel, and Culp among other returning from last year's squad and his principal addition is Hyland Grimmer, star sophomore guard, whom Cutchin regards as one of the best goal shots he has ever seen.

There will be a frosh tilt in the afternoon which may equal the varsity battle for thrills. Coach Hornback will run his once-defeated Baby Toppers up against an impressive array of Murray talent including the sensational Joe Fulk, and a lad named Metcalfe from Calvert City.

Tonight's tussle is expected to serve more or less as a warm-up.

Library Given 41 Rare Books

The announcement has just been made that the Kentucky Library has received forty-one rare books through the McGregor Endowment plan. Included in the collection is an American atlas, published by Thomas Jefferys in 1775. It contains twenty-nine beautiful hand-colored maps and forty-nine plates.

One very unique item is a small pamphlet of 1852 which tells of the Wonderful Adventures and Horrible Disclosures of a Louisville Policeman. The illustrations of this are blood curdling and lurid in character.

Hennepin's book, published in London in 1699, entitled A New Discovery of a Vast Country in America and three volumes of Victor Callet's Journeys in North America, which were published in Paris, and many other valuable books are in the collection.

Every item of the collection is rare and will be of much interest to any one engaged in Kentucky research.

State Auditor Lauds Officials

State Auditor David A. Logan in a report released at Frankfort on January 7 paid glowing tribute to the "strong spirit of public service which pervades the entire faculty of Western." Mr. Logan's report, which came after a comprehensive audit, was carried in a special Associated Press dispatch released by the Frankfort bureau.

The following quotation is from the Associated Press story. "The faculty and administrative officials have rendered service regardless of any monetary measure," Logan said, after pointing out that all salaries "have been held within the constitutional limit of $5,000."

"It is not our purpose to urge that the salary schedule here is high enough or that the rates are properly correlated with those of the public school teacher and all other levels of educational work," the report said, "yet we do not believe that maximum salaries of $10,000 would have enhanced the service that has been rendered or increased the prestige of the institution."

Sterrett Sets Oratorical Date

On Friday, February 21, the local elimination contest for the purpose of selecting the student who will represent Western in the State Oratorical will be held in Snell Hall as usual.

Mr. Sterrett, director of the contest, has announced this date and now issues a call for all men who desire to enter this oratorical activity. He urges that all who plan to compete consult him immediately for the necessary particulars.

The subject of the speech must be along some topic that is timely today. Each speech is limited to a maximum of two thousand words. Each manuscript, which must be

Two Five Week Terms Slated For Summer

The summer school of 1941 will be divided into two terms of five weeks each. Classes will meet six days per week, thereby enabling those in attendance to make six weeks credit in five weeks. Students may register for one or both terms.

During the summer school of 1941 Western will offer a strong and attractive program of courses leading to all certificates issued on undergraduate and graduate work and to the Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science, and Master of Arts degrees. The work offered will include a wide variety of content courses, general and special courses in education and special methods and professionalized subject matter courses dealing with the objectives, content, and methods of the various subjects taught in the public schools of Kentucky.

The large number of diversified courses offered in twenty different departments of the institution is intended to meet the needs of the following groups of students:

1. Graduates of four-year high schools who wish to begin regular college work with a view to completing one of the curricula leading to a certificate or a degree.

2. Persons engaged in educational work during the regular school year and who wish to secure additional training in special and general fields.

3. Teachers who wish to earn credits toward the renewal of certificates or who desire to qualify for certificates in general or special fields of study.

4. Supervisors and teachers of special subjects.

5. County superintendents, city superintendents, high school principals, and elementary principals

National Guard Calls Students

Around twenty-five of Western's young men will be inducted into active National Guard service today for one year or more training in the field. The formal induction is scheduled for today, but it will be a few days before they are actually mobilized.

Special arrangements have been made whereby the boys have taken their examinations before leaving for camp and will receive full credit for all courses in which they are enrolled for this semester, provided their work is satisfactory.

Reporter Says Musicals Are Good But Too Infrequent

By Chester Lane

The chimes in Cherry Hall strike 2:30 o'clock and inside Van Meter auditorium a round of applause begins as the director makes his entrance. You are attending the winter concert of the college concert band under the baton of Mr. Hugh Gunderson. You look around you and see familiar faces—quite a large number of faces despite the beautiful weather outside. You are one of an audience that chose beautiful music for your Sunday afternoon's entertainment rather than a walk in the winter sunshine.

The director bows and turns to face his band with baton raised. Then, with what seemed very little effort, the auditorium was filled with the music of Bach under the titles of "Fervent in My Longing" and "Fugue in G Minor."

Next you hear the familiar strains of—yes, it's "Jeanie with the Light Brown Hair," since ASCAP has clamped down "Jeanie" has really been pushed around. Sunday "Jeanie" got her dues. Following that were two numbers that were as beautifully done as all the others on the program. The final number before intermission was "The Normal March" written by our own Professor Strahm. Following this number Mr. Gunderson

A Message For All Western Students

The following is not in any sense to be construed as an indictment made or as an argument advanced. It is merely a statement of opinion, based on three months' observation. It certainly does not apply to the entire student body or even to a large portion of it. But it does apply, and applies as forcefully as we can make it, to that element present on every campus which act thoughtlessly and without regard for consequences. Because this is the beginning of a new year and near the beginning of a new semester, times for wiping the slate clean, we feel that a sincere evaluation of a few matters which because they concern Western certainly should concern Western students will not be out of place.

Knowing full well that the editorial page in the average college newspaper is probably the least read of all, we barely conquered an impulse to run this on page one and head it with a 72 point, five column streamer. That is how important we believe the matter dealt with here really is.

And that matter is simply manners—in the broadest possible sense of the word.

A yearly editorial on the subject has become an old Herald tradition. For the past seven or eight years there have appeared discussions dealing with various phases of student behavior. And always they have been prompted by a statement similar to one that appeared last year when a certain, unnamed faculty member told the editor that the students were the most polite she had ever seen. We regret to say that we have heard no such statement this year, nor have the several score Westerners we consulted on the matter heard anything either. So it is hardly likely that the whole thing is merely a coincidence.

But we're not going to break an old Herald tradition. We're going to write on manners all right.

The lack of them.

And again, let us stress, only on the part of a few. But, and let us stress this also, this lack of common courtesy on the part of those few reflects on the entire student body and eventually even on the school, which certainly is not responsible.

The field is much too broad to be dealt with in one article. So here we will concern ourselves only with the most glaring examples of a simple lack of consideration for others.

Most lamentable perhaps, though most noticeable certainly, is chapel behavior. Generally the attendance has been good, better than during the last two years, at least. There have been little of the almost traditional whistling and paper-sailing. But students are still leaving after announcements and even during the program, conversing much above the prescribed limits of a whisper, talking loudly in the foyer (from whence even a sigh is clearly audible in the main auditorium) and leaving so hastily and madly that "You're adjourned" is fast becoming a passing institution and officials are reported contemplating either widening the doors or knocking down the walls as a precautionary measure. And nothing is quite so disconcerting to a speaker as to address a group earnestly engaged in perusing Pilgrim's Progress or Boyle's Law or the Declaration of Independence.

And then there's the library. Blitzkriegs are nothing new to hardened seniors who have seen one hit that building every night at seven, and at several odd hours during the day, for four years. It has been reported to us on pretty good authority that conditions got so bad at one Southern college that the "Silence Please" signs were burned in effigy and students checked out their books and went to the various irms to study where there was at least rhythm evident. Certainly nothing like this will ever happen at Western. On the contrary, Miss Helm and her staff have the situation well in hand. But we think the students have gone too far in invading the stacks, for countless centuries the final refuge of hardened faculty members. And if they don't reform, we predict a sensational revival of the long dormant spoon-holder movement when Spring comes around again.

Along with this point must be mentioned a subject we dislike to bring up—plain, unadulterated stealing. Library volumes, top-coats, text books, gym and lab equipment, money and even old notebooks are strangely missing from the possession of scores of students each semester. A considerable portion of this, it must be admitted, is really only misplaced or lost and a check-up will reveal that it has been turned in at the Registrar's office. There are about 50 items there now. But busted locks, rifled lockers, and "gone-with-the-wind" valuables cease to be funny when they become almost daily occurrences.

As was inevitable from the beginning we finally get around to that most despicable type of campus rodent—the grass-grinder. Down through the year Western has received more than her share of honors and attention. Her faculty, her scholars, her athletic teams have made her famous. New buildings have gone up at a rate rarely exceeded at a state institution. Nine KIAC trophies stand in Mr. Diddle's office and four SIAA ones besides. Oratorical medals, debating cups and even journalistic crowns bedeck the Kentucky Building and rare volumes worth a fortune. There is a loan fund for students and even a new flag pole outside the gymnasium offices. Everything points to progress. But, alas and alack, one look at the lawns and our illusions are rudely shattered. We still have with us the grass-grinder, who by all odds should have gone out of style with shoe buttoners, side burns, and camouflaged Fords. Words fail us at this point, that is, words that may be printed in a college newspaper.

Well, we notice we've just about run out of space and without even getting to mention such pet peeves as the loud talking that goes on in the Cherry Hall corridors, the habitual "ten o'clock scholars", the paper scatterers, and the building defacers.

But maybe it's just as well, because we would certainly hate to shatter too much complacency at one swoop. And no one can deny that there is something intriguing about a care-free semester, anyhow.

We think it is generally recognized among Western students that employers are no longer putting the undue stress they once did on class room records. It is therefore with considerably more interest than usual that we have been hearing discussions lately dealing with various ills present in the modern education set-up, for it appears most certainly that they are based on a sincere attempt to advance a solution for existing conditions rather than on a desire to find a ready excuse for all those C's and D's.

Criticisms we have heard have varied all the way from a general condemnation of the entire system to pet peeves against restrictions of the curriculum and the necessity for having Saturday labs. But by far the majority of them have been of a constructive nature.

Perhaps the most widely discussed, and certainly the most wholeheartedly condemned, of all is the grading system. By this we do not mean that there are any who believe grades should be supplanted by numerical ranking or for the purpose that the curve system be discarded in favor of a straight line policy that would merely pass or flunk the student and neglect to rank him in respect to the others of his class. (We have noted advocations of both of these policies in recent issues of college publications that reach our desk ever so often). But there are definitely two lines of thought on the subject, and both seem to have their points.

The more popular of the two is directed against what is regarded as a lack of standardization in respect to the testing of the students' knowledge.

The proponents of this line of thought tell us (and certainly we already knew) that one may spend the same amount of time, effort and energy under two teachers in any field, finish the course with exactly the same amount of knowledge and yet made an A under one and a C under the other or, and what is far more important, a C under one and an F under the other.

As the solution they offer a plan whereby the head of each department would make out all tests for all courses offered in that department. It seems to us that this would perhaps place an undue strain on the persons involved, and in most instances the department heads have full daily schedules anyhow. But it does seem, if those opposed to the present system do have a worthwhile point (and remember, we are only presenting the case), that perhaps a general policy as regards stressing certain features or points in each general field of study could be arrived at by the department members of that particular field.

Certainly standardization which under the set up would almost certainly evolve into stereotypization is not to be welcomed. But students, in general, do feel that a closer correlation as to subject matter and divisions of subject

EXAMINATION SCHEDULE FIRST SEMESTER 1940-1941

A final examination covering two class periods will be given in all scheduled courses at the end of the present semester. Examinations will be held in the regular classrooms unless special arrangement is made in advance with the Dean of the College. No changes, either on the part of students or faculty, in the hours at which examinations are placed will be possible. All classes will meet regularly on Monday, January 27, but will not meet during the examination period, January 28 to 31, inclusive.

NOTE: Seniors who satisfy the following conditions will be exempted from final examinations:

1. Those who will have completed all requirements for the Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science degree at the close of the present semester.
2. Whose average scholastic standing for all work done in the institution was "B" or above at the beginning of the present semester, and
3. Who, two weeks prior to the beginning of the final examinations, are making at least an average grade of "B" in the courses for which they registered at the beginning of the semester.

Examinations for Tuesday, January 28

In all courses having recitations at 8:00, 11:00, 2:00, and 4:00, on Tuesday, and Thursday (not laboratory), carrying credits of 1/2, 1, 2, 4, or 5 hours, examinations will be held as follows:

Class Period	Examination Period
8:00	8:00-9:40
11:00	10:00-11:40
2:00	1:00-2:40
4:00	3:00-4:40

Examinations for Wednesday, January 29

In all courses having recitations at 8:00, 11:00, 2:00, and 4:00 on Monday and Wednesday only, and on Monday, Wednesday and Friday only, and in all Laboratory Science courses carrying a credit of 4 or 5 hours, examinations will be held as follows:

Class Period	Examination Period
8:00	8:00-9:40
11:00	10:00-11:40
2:00	1:00-2:40
4:00	3:00-4:40

Examinations for Thursday, January 30

In all courses having recitations (not laboratory) at 10:00, 1:00, and 3:00 on Tuesday and Thursday carrying credits of 1/2, 1, 2, 4, or 5 hours, examinations will be held as follows:

Class Period	Examination Period
9:00	8:00-9:40
10:00	10:00-11:40
1:00	1:00-2:40
3:00	3:00-4:40

Examinations for Friday, January 31

In all courses having recitations at 10:00, 1:00, and 3:00 on Monday and Wednesday only, or on Monday, Wednesday and Friday only, and in all Laboratory Science courses carrying a credit of 4 or 5 hours, examinations will be held as follows:

Class Period	Examination Period
10:00	8:00-9:40
1:00	10:00-11:40
3:00	1:00-2:40

Ball Signs With Chicago Bruins
Herb Ball, all-S.I.A.A. forward on the Hilltopper basketball team last season, recently signed a contract with the Chicago Bruins, one of the top-notch professional basketball teams of the nation.
The Bruins defeated the Detroit Eagles in the first game in which Ball played.

SIAA Tourney Returns To Hill

For the fifth consecutive year the S. I. A. A. tournament will be held in the Western gymnasium according to an announcement made by the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association which met December 21, at Birmingham, Alabama. The tournament has been set for March 6, 7 and 8.

Entering the tournament will be twelve teams, eight of the top-ranking quintets, three others, chosen by a committee, and the defending champion, Western.

Western will make a bid for its fifth straight S. I. A. A. crown this year and should the Hilltoppers win, will have won six championships out of the last eight years. Finishing twice in the runner-up position, the Western lads have copied the tourney five times in the last seven years, four of them consecutively.

Chosen on the committee to select the teams to compete in the tournament were W. L. Terry, Western; Roy Stewart, Murray; O. V. Over-all, Tennessee Tech; H. Lee Prather, Louisiana Normal; and Billy Leval, Newberry College.

The association is composed of thirty-nine Southern colleges and the meeting was attended by some thirty representatives who decided to meet next year in Tampa, Florida.

The representatives re-elected Dr. J. W. Provine of Mississippi College, president for the year and Bob Hinton, Georgetown, was chosen secretary and treasurer. Vice presidents from four districts were elected. It was the forty-sixth annual meeting of the association.

two following days. The price will be twenty-five cents for one pose and thirty-five cents for two.

The freshmen pictures are complete with the exception of those who will enter the first of February. Arrangements will be made for taking their pictures later.

Subscriptions will be received at the beginning of the second semester. A payment of $1.00 will be made when the student subscribes and the remaining $2.00 will be paid when delivered.

Frederic Whitaker, Modern Cellini, Opens Display Here

By Freds Byrne

Twenty water colors under the title "New England Watercolors of Today and Yesteryear" will be shown at Western beginning next Friday. This is the first exhibition here of the noted New England artist. Recognized as one of America's top-ranking designers of ecclesiastical silver and gold, Mr. Whitaker served a long, persevering apprenticeship of the fine arts.

Frederic Whitaker turned out such important work at the gold monstrosity for the recent Eucharistic Congress, described by Roger Baudier in "Catholic Action" as "the most costly sacred vessel ever made in this country and the most beautiful example of ecclesiastical goldsmith's art"; the chalice of gold for Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore, the sterling silver plaque to President Harding, as well as the numerous bronze tablets, religious pieces and ostensories for universities and churches throughout the country.

Recently, with traveling exhibitions throughout the country, he has been acclaimed by art-lovers and critics a discovery in the field of water color painting. Then followed an enthusiastic reception in New York City with his one-man show of which such leading art critics as Emily Genauer of the New York World-Telegram said: "Very fresh and lively. Perhaps this is because of the clarity of his tone. Maybe it is derived from the strong rhythms of his designs. Possibly it's due to their atmospheric quality. At any rate they speak eloquently of Whitaker's technical skill and of his imagination."

Mr. Whitaker is a member of the American Water Color Society, professional artists group of New York, Providence Art Club, Providence Water Color Club (past president) and exhibits regularly in important galleries throughout the country.

Dr. Stickles Is KLBV Chairman

Dr. A. M. Stickles, Western's history department head, was named general chairman of the Warren county chapter of the Kentucky League for British Victory at a league committee meeting here Saturday, January 11.

J. T. Orencoff was named vice-chairman for Bowling Green; M. D. Alexander, vice-chairman for north Warren; Dr. Fred Mutchler, vice-chairman for south Warren; Earl Morris, treasurer, and Mrs. J. Murray Hill, secretary.

Dr. Stickles is expected to call a meeting of the officers this week to name an executive committee, to be composed of 16 or 18 representatives of various church organizations, civic clubs, etc., joining in the campaign.

The committee which chose the league officers Saturday was appointed at an organization meeting Friday night at the home of Miss Elizabeth Finn, district league chairman. It was composed of Preston Haynes of the Lions Club, J. C. Holland, Rotarian; E. H. Canon, Kiwanian; Jake Pushin, of the American Legion, and County Judge C. D. Milliken, Jr.

Mrs. J. Noel Glasscock returned to her studies last Monday following an absence of a week. Mrs. Glasscock was in a serious automobile accident on New Year's night and was just recently dismissed from the Owensboro hospital.

Miss Jane Rawls has moved back to Potter Hall after living out in town for several weeks. Make way for a certain boy, Mrs. Penick, he'll be there every time the door opens—well, almost.

Bernice Flora spent the week-end with her family at Smiths Grove.

Kenneth Chaney spent last week-end in Horse Cave.

PAULETTE GODDARD AND MADELEINE CARROLL in a dramatic scene from Cecil B. DeMille's Technicolor epic "North West Mounted Police" at the Capitol Theatre Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday.

Joe Vance will go to Franklin to replace Jake Evans as head of the music department at the Franklin city high school. Joe will take over his new duties the third of next month.

Alma Blancett spent the past week-end with her parents in Calhoun.

Eloise Quigg returned for the past week-end to her home in Livermore.

Mary E. Oates spent the past week-end at her home in Greenville.

Carolyn Howard spent last week-end with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Howard, of Glasgow.

Lois Marshall returned for last week-end to her home in Guthrie.

Mary Ina Ramsey spent last week-end at her home in Monticello.

Mary Ruth Jesse returned last week-end to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Jesse, of Frankfort.

Opal Bands spent last week-end at her home in Lafayette, Tenn.

J. B. Davis, B.S., '39, who is employed at Albany with a loan company, spent his vacation in Somerset, Pennsylvania.

George Binkley, former Western student, now enrolled at the University of Louisville Medical School, was in Bowling Green during the holidays.

Marinus Hoebeke reports very little snow in Grand Rapids, Michigan, where he visited his parents during the holidays.

Barry Bingham, owner and publisher of the Courier-Journal and Louisville Times, visited the Kentucky Library on Tuesday afternoon, January 7.

D. N. Robinson is teaching industrial arts in the Louisville city school system.

H. B. Clark, B.S., '39, who has been teaching in Louisville, has accepted a position in Fredericksburg, Virginia.

Charles Francis, B.S., '40, and David Francis, are at the bedside of their father, Dr. C. E. Francis, who is seriously ill.

Warren Collins spent last week-end with his parents at Albany, Indiana.

Joe Garmen visited friends in Memorial Saturday.

Mary Frances Hammons was the guest of Dede Ray Harrell at Miss Harrell's home in Lewisburg during the week-end of the 12th of January.

Helen McCulley was the week-end guest of Geneva Belt in Litchfield.

Margaret Duke was in Greensburg on last Sunday on business.

Potter Hall is welcoming this week Mary and Martha Kessner, and Helen McCulley.

Faculty - - Notes

Mrs. Nelle Gooch Tavelstead entertained with a bridge party at her home on Friday, January 2nd. Bridge was played at three tables, and prizes were won by Miss Susie West McClanahan and Mrs. M. L. Billings. At the conclusion of the games a salad course was served. The guests were Mesdames Elizabeth Denhardt, L. B. Finn, Garland Fisher, W. L. Matthews, W. S. Fuqua, M. L. Billings, James Cornette, Misses Frances Anderson, Lotta Day, Gabrielle Robertson, Susie West McClanahan, Julia Neale, and Rita Milliken.

Miss Tryphena Howard attended the joint meeting of the American Mathematical Society, the Mathematical Association of America, and the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics, January 2. The meeting was held on the campus of the University of Louisiana at Baton Rouge.

On New Year's Day Miss Howard attended the Sugar Bowl game.

Dean Gris was ill at his home with the "flu" part of the last week-of-Christmas vacation and the first week of the school after vacation.

Joseph F. Barnes, 80, father of Mr. C. B. Barnes of the Industrial Arts Department died at his home in Prentiss, Thursday, December 28, after an illness of three years. Death resulted from a paralytic stroke and pneumonia.

Mr. Barnes had two other sons who attended Western. They are James A. Barnes, Temple University, and Byron Barnes, Prentiss.

For those of you who really like organ music, here is your chance. On Sunday afternoon, January 19, at 3:00 o'clock there will be an organ recital at the Episcopal church. The recital will be given by Mr. Chester Channon, member of Western's music department. Mr. Channon has studied extensively and will give a program worthy of anyone's time.

Mr. Massinger, voice instructor on the music faculty, spent his Christmas holidays in New York and New Jersey. While in New York he attended several current Broadway shows and an opera.

Miss Chisolm has returned to her duties in the music department after having been ill at her home in Pembroke.

Mrs. Frank P. Moore was guest speaker at the meeting of the Faculty Wives Club of Western held on Wednesday at the Kentucky Building. Mrs. Moore's subject was "Kentucky Architecture", and she gave a delightful talk illustrated with models owned by the Kentucky museum. An exhibit of models, books, and magazine illustrations of prominent buildings in the state was an interesting feature.

Hostesses were Mesdames John N. Vincent, Hugh Gunderson, J. R. Alexander, and Lee P. Jones. Mrs. Paul Garrett presided. There were forty members present.

Geography Class Enjoys Day's Outing At Kyrock

The Principles of Geography class, under the supervision of Miss Marks reports a pleasant field trip to Kyrock yesterday.

The party left Bowling Green Tuesday morning, January 16, and returned a short time before the 1:00 o'clock classes that evening.

The weather was damp, but very lovely and pleasant for a day in January.

Congress

The program for the last meeting of the Congress Debating Club was in the form of the Semestral Parliament of Proficient Prevaricators.

Following the program the following officers were elected: Senator Sam Steger, president; Senator Bobble Quinn, vice-president; Senator D. C. Ferguson, secretary-treasurer; and Senator Glenn Carwell, sergeant-at-arms.

The organization then adopted an official pin and Senator David Matthews was designated to receive the orders for them.

Due to the fact that there will be a basketball game tonight a quorum is not expected to be present. Unless a quorum is present by 7:00 p. m. the meeting cannot be called to order and therefore no one can be assessed the usual twenty-five cents fine.

Iva Scott

The Iva Scott Club held its regular meeting on Tuesday night, January 14, Miss Rosemary Miller, Farm Security Representative in Warren County, was the speaker of the evening. Mary Maguire and L. J. Turner gave an interesting and well-received musical program.

Biology Club

The Biology club held its monthly meeting January 8, in the Kentucky Building. The program consisted of a lecture given by Mr. Odie Allen, a graduate of Western, on the plant life around Ohio State University. Mr. Allen has spent the past three summer there doing his graduate work in the Lake Laboratory. At the present time he is teaching in the Bowling Green High school. The lecture was accompanied by motion pictures made by Mr. Allen while at Ohio State.

A "get acquainted session" was held after the meeting and refreshments were served.

Latin

On Wednesday night, January 13, the Latin Club held its meeting at the home of Miss Stonecipher. Elizabeth Briggs gave an interesting report on the development of Rome from the standpoint of literature, government, and writers. Lester Spalding continued the report, covering from Pompeii to Caesar.

Several swing recordings were played and refreshments were served. The meeting was then adjourned.

Arts and Crafts

The Arts and Crafts Club held its regular meeting Tuesday evening, January 14, at 7:00 o'clock. Vice-president Russell Blowers presided over the meeting in the absence of President D. N. Robertson, who has accepted a teaching position in Louisville.

At the last meeting in each semester club officers are selected, and hold office for one semester unless re-elected. As the next meeting would come during examination week, the club decided not to meet then and elected its officers at this meeting. The officers are as follows: President, Cecil Parsons; vice-president, Marion Dexter; secretary, George Lilly; treasurer, Marjorie Hoebeke; sergeant-at-arms, Carlos Johnson; and reporter, Kenneth Swanson.

Mr. Blowers said that the club membership had increased and that the attendance was much better this semester. Both president and vice-president were praised for the part each played in making the club a success.

Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Penick spent a part of their Christmas holiday with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Hampton in Morgantown.

Sherry Thomas reports an interesting holiday in and around Williamstown, since the Hilltop and other dance spots are still merrily putting forth the dance music that tempts the toes.

Bob Patterson spent the holidays at his home in Vine Grove.

During the Christmas holidays Jemmie Davis visited at her home in Williamsburg.

Jewell Castle spent the Christmas holidays at her home in Plainsville.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Browning who were ill with influenza during the holidays were able to resume their work when school opened.

Hilda Hooks and Elizabeth Guthrie spent the holidays at their homes in Hopkinsville.

Lucille Bach spent her Christmas holidays at her home in Whitesburg.

had Professor Strahm stand and be recognized by a very appreciative audience.

The second part of the concert was made up of seven numbers, of which three were encores. Of the seven numbers played in the second group "The Three Rings," "Spanish March," and "Rhapsody in Rumba" were the most appreciated by the audience with Professor Strahm's "Normal March" being the most popular in the first group.

Maybe the music department doesn't feel justified in giving a concert every month, but I am of the opinion that they would have an audience at every performance. This student body really appreciates good music. The only trouble is that they aren't exposed to it often enough.

I think that some of these dance bands around here would do well to get the music to "Rhapsody in Rumba" and include it in their libraries.

6. Students who plan to complete pre-professional requirements for work in technical and professional fields.

7. Persons who come from colleges not offering summer school opportunities and who want to earn additional credits.

8. Persons who want to complete certain subjects for the purpose of developing a general, cultural and academic background.

All courses offered during the summer session carry regular college credit and may be used in partial fulfillment of requirements of the various curricula offered by the institution.

Russell Blowers, a senior in the industrial arts department, is leaving Western today to accept a position as industrial arts teacher in Welch, West Virginia.

Weddings - - -

Venable-Pearson

The marriage of Virginia Earl Venable and Emmons O. Pearson, Jr., both of this city, was quietly but impressively solemnized at Saint Joseph's Rectory on December 21 at 9:00 a. m. in the presence of the families and immediate friends.

Mrs. Pearson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Venable of this city. She is a graduate of Bowling Green high school, and attended Sullins College in Bristol, Va., and is now a student at Western.

Bishop-Mitchell

Announcement has been received here of the marriage of Glenna Bishop of Corbin, and Lt. Albert Mitchell, '40, of Bowling Green, on December 23 in Lexington, Ky. Mrs. Mitchell is a former student of Western.

Diddle's Adding Machine Coasts To Win Over Eastern

In a battle between two undefeated quintets Monday night, Eastern ran up against the Hilltoppers when they were hot and went home on the short end of the score, 61-27. The game, played in the Western gym, was preceded by a flag-raising ceremony performed by members of the local R. O. T. C. unit.

Western's first five shots gave them a 9-0 lead before Eastern could make the scoring column on a follow-up shot by Perry. Then Shelton, Fulk, and Towery scored 8 points in rapid succession and the Maroons' hopes were dashed on the rocks.

By half time, the scoreboard read 30-12, and the Toppers opened the second half where they had left off in the first, as Alex Downing and Towery made two field goals each and Fulk and McGuffey one before the Rankin men were able to hit the hoop again. After that the crowd was interested only in seeing how many point the Westerners could run up.

Not only did the Hilltoppers display a crushing offense, but their defense was practically impregnable. "Copper John" Campbell, highly touted Eastern sophomore, was held to a single field goal and most of the Maroon shooting was done from far out.

Towery led Western scoring with 18 points, followed by Earl Shelton with 14, all made in the first half. Dorna was high for Eastern with 9.

Diddlemen Yet To Taste Loss

The Hilltoppers added two more links to their victory chain during the Christmas holidays when they slipped past the Washington & Lee Generals at Louisville on December 20 by a score of 26-22 and trounced the Bobcats from Ohio U. 57-41, at Bowling Green on January 2.

The tilt with the Generals in the Male High gym was attended by several hundred alumni and students. The game itself was a dull affair for the first thirty minutes. Although the score was close neither team approached the form that was expected. However, with ten minutes of playing time remaining, the Diddlemen awoke to find themselves on the short end of a 20-14 score, and they proceeded to do something about it. With Carlyle Towery showing the way, the Toppers took over the lead at 22-21 and were never headed. Towery led Western scoring with 14 points and Dick Pinck was high for Washington & Lee with 9.

The game which started the New Year off right for the Westerners was an exact contrast. From the time Earl Shelton sank an overhead shot seconds after the opening whistle, the contest was fast and free scoring. The Ohioans, who had suffered a 58-57 reverse the night before, were completely befuddled by the fast breaking offense which the Hilltoppers employed. It should be said, however, in defense of the Northerners, that the Toppers played their best game of the season to date. Three Westerners, Towery, Shelton, and Fulk were in the double figures in the scoring column. For the first time this season Shelton showed what he has been expected to do all season as he tallied 14 points to follow Towery who racked up 17. The appreciative crowd was made up largely of townspeople and was surprisingly large.

The basketballers of Cumberland University were no match for the Hilltoppers and they went down in defeat 52-25. The score might have been much higher, but Coach Diddle was content to let the substitutes play and give his regulars a rest.

Western's Flying Course Postponed

reply; but we waited until the last moment, hoping for the ability to include new institutions.

"We appreciate your spirit of co-operation and will file your request, hoping that general quotas will be revised at a future date."

Western Gym Is Scene of NYA Remodeling "Blitz"

The Western gym was recently the scene of a first-class blitzkrieg—and we don't mean the kind that is traditionally staged by the gladiators of Generalissimo Diddle.

This was not a war to make the world safe for democracy but a battle to make the Hilltoppers hard-wood safe for future champions. Mr. L. A. Moore directed this assault against marring footprints as left by cage heroes and jitterbugs.

The warriors of this affair, which were recruited from the Resident N. Y. A. Project, battle twenty-four hours a day for a period of nine days before the scars of ten years of rough usage were conquered.

During this lapse of time a total of 790 man hours of labor was expended in sanding, patching, and finishing the gym floor.

The sanding process consisted of sanding the floor three times, twice lengthwise and once at a 45 degree angle. This required the employment of a sanding machine for 216 continuous hours. The three sandings were equivalent to sanding a single floor which contained 54,000 square feet. The sander cut a swath of eight inches and the distance the sander was pushed is equal to the distance between Bowling Green and Cave City. Seventy-five feet of sand paper were used in this portion of the work.

(Editor's note: Really only 74 feet, 10 inches were used, since Mr. Diddle asked the boys to go easy on those portions of the floor around the foul lines where Harry Saddler deposited so many inches of his skin. These are to be left for future generations to admire.)

The workers had to make between 500 and 600 patches at various points over the hardwood.

The job was touched up with sixty-five gallons of gym floor finish which brought the floor back to the first-class condition it was in 1930 when it was last refinished.

The work was supervised by Mr. L. A. Moore, Mr. Gilbert Newton, and Mr. Neale McGown, Resident N. Y. A. supervisor, and Joe Callas and Kenneth "Swede" Swanson, student supervisors.

Aerial Tactics Are Nothing New For Pittman, Rutledge

Two of Western's outstanding gridmen, "Curly" Pittman and Ed Rutledge, who played at end for the old Alma Mater will not be on the receiving end of any more victorious aerial attacks, but instead, will be taught aerial means of defense and combat in the U. S. Air Corps.

Ed has enlisted in the Navy Air Corps and leaves for St. Louis where he will undergo a strenuous, brain-racking preliminary training which starts on February 15, and lasts for one month. From there he will be transferred to Pensacola, Florida, where he will be subjected to one year of regular basic training. Graduation from Pensacola will award Ed the honored title of Second Lieutenant in the Naval Air Corps. Ed will graduate from Western in February.

"Curly" Pittman chose the Army Air Corps where he will make his debut in East St. Louis at Scotts Field. From here he will be transferred to Randolph Field in San Antonio, Texas. After nine months of hard grind he will complete his basic training at Kelley Field where on graduation he will be bestowed with the honored title of Second Lieutenant in the Army Air Corps. "Curly" will begin classes at Scotts Field on March 22.

SPORTS SPOTLIGHT

By Don Backer

Up until now, the sensation of the basketball season has been the play of the Western Frosh. Everyone expected the varsity to go places, but little attention has been paid to the freshmen. Coach Teddy Hornback has no outstanding star around whom to build his attack this year. He has no Carlyle Towery or Harry Saddler to depend upon for 15 or 20 points each game. In spite of that, however, only one team has been able to take their measure in five games, and that team was the Austin Peay Governors who had held the University of Tennessee varsity quintet to a nine-point victory only a few days earlier.

That was the first game of the season for the Baby Toppers and they then began their victory string which now stands at four games. The first victims were the ever-tough Blue Raiders from Lindsey-Wilson Junior College at Columbia. Then, in rapid succession followed triumphs over Campbellsville Junior College, Tennessee Tech frosh, and last Saturday afternoon, the Austin-Peay Governors. And when a team can take a 42-24 lacing one week and come back to knock off that same team 30-28 the next, that's going some.

The main trouble with the freshman games is that they aren't publicized enough. After the Campbellsville thriller, which ended 32-20, many a student was heard to voice his disappointment at missing the game because he didn't know it was scheduled. The Yearlings have six more home games this year including tussles with Murray and Lindsey-Wilson, and starting with one tonight against the University of Louisville Frosh. Let's all be on hand tonight when the first whistling blows and pull for the Frosh as we do for the varsity.

The remaining home games for the Frosh:

Jan. 17, University of Louisville, Feb. 4, T. P. I. Frosh.
Feb. 6, Lindsey-Wilson Junior College.
Feb. 8, Murray Frosh.
Feb. 18, Campbellsville Junior College.
Feb. 24, Middle Tennessee Frosh.

Reflections From The Sidelines

The Courier Journal the other morning conveyed the news that Carlyle Towery has totaled but 11 points in two varsity appearances at Murray. My guess is that he will pass that mark long before the end of the game tomorrow night. Joe Fulk, Murray frosh star, made 24 and 20 points respectively in his first two starts. Red McQuigg, Western freshman cager, played on the same team with Fulk at Kutztown last year. Coming Events Dept. Among recent basketball scores were: Purdue 41, Indiana State 28; and Duquesne, 46, Carnegie Tech 9. The Hilltoppers tackle Indiana State here Feb. 17, and Duquesne at Pittsburgh on Feb. 12. Coach Rome Rankin's customary brown suit and red buttonniere failed to hold any luck for Eastern Monday night.

For the 1940-41 basketball season 536 season tickets were sold.

Frosh Look Good In A-P Victory

Teddy Hornback's Western Frosh met the Governors from Austin May 30-28 here last Saturday afternoon. The highly touted Tennesseans recently held the U. of Tennessee varsity to a nine point margin, and they had previously submerged the Baby Toppers 42-24. This time, however, the Westerners overcame a small deficit, took the lead slightly before half time, and saved off a late rush by the invaders to avenge their only defeat of the season.

Harper, Sloan and Heller were outstanding for the Frosh, who turned in a courageous exhibition against their taller, more experienced opponents.

Cards, Murray Face Toppers

Scenes From "Our Town" Appear In Quarterly

J. Reid Sterrett and his Western College Players received a singular honor this past month by having an entire page in The Emerson Quarterly devoted to showing four scenes from one of last year's productions "Our Town."

The Emerson Quarterly is widely recognized and regarded in speech, drama, and radio fields. It is published four times a year by the Emerson College of Fine Arts in Boston, Massachusetts. The thing about the four pictures displayed that was lauded by the magazine was the "well-composed lighting" which was so effective in carrying out the action on a stage void of all scenery and props other than ladders and chairs.

John O'Connor Elected To Sigma Pi Sigma

John J. O'Connor, B.S., '39, who is now working on his Ph.D. degree at Ohio State University, was recently elected a member of the Sigma Pi Sigma, national honorary Physics fraternity.

O'Connor, who visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. O'Connor in Bowling Green during the Christmas holidays, received his master's degree from Vanderbilt University last summer. O'Connor holds an assistantship at the Ohio University.

Registrar's Office Has Lost Articles

In the Registrar's office (the lost and found department of Western) are many lost articles that have never been called for. It seems by the accumulation of articles there that the students do not know where to go to call for misplaced material.

There are books, keys, scarfs, typewriter covers, coats, hats, earmuffs, glasses, pocketbooks, key chains, pencils, fountain pens, and even a road map in the lost article box.

J. H. Lawrence Made Lieutenant-Colonel

J. H. Lawrence, former Western student and son of a local resident, Mrs. Sarah E. Lawrence, has been promoted to the rank of Lieutenant Colonel, Infantry, in the U. S. Army, according to word received in this city.

Toppers Take First SIAA Win

Western's Hilltoppers won their first S. I. A. A. game of the season at Cookeville, Tennessee, January 8 by beating Tennessee Tech's Golden Eagles, 42-16. It was the fifth consecutive win for the Diddlemen against no losses.

The Eagles got off to a good start, jumping into a 5-0 lead but the Toppers soon tied the count at 12-12 and then coasted in. The score read 22-12 in Western's favor at the half way mark, and Tech was able to add but 4 points during the last period.

Coach Ed Diddle kept his regulars on the sidelines during most of the second half. High point honors for Western went to Tip Downing with 11 tallies, but Big Boy Towery was close behind with 9. Overshadowing both in scoring was the Eagle's captain, Womack, who counted for 13 of his teams 16 points.

Stansbury's Article To Appear In Quarterly

An announcement has been received at Western that an article written by Ed Stansbury of the physical education department is to appear in Research Quarterly, national research journal of health, physical education, and recreation.

The title of the article is "Status of State Directors of Health and Physical Education in the United States." It was written last spring.

Sonny Dunham And Orchestra To Play Here

This famous leader and his band come directly to Bowling Green from St. Louis where they played for several weeks after moving eastward from Hollywood. They are to play here for the annual mid-term Alpha Sigma dance. Dunham was featured with Glen Gray for seven years as instrument stylist on the trombone and the trumpet. He also did ensemble work with Phil Harris, the Andrew Sisters and Jan Garber in movie short subjects before forming his own band.

Reports By Drs. Wilson, Smith Are Published

The complete reports of two committees headed by Western faculty members appeared in the December issue of the Educational Bulletin, official publication of the State Department of Education.

The reports which were given at the Teacher Education Conference held in Richmond on September 9-13 dealt with the following problems: "What are the relationships that should exist between a teacher-education program and the service area in which the college is located," and "What kind of in-service programs of teacher education will prove most effective in the improvement of learning conditions of the schools?"

The committee which made a study of the former problem was headed by Dr. Gordon Wilson, head of the English department, and the latter was made by a committee headed by Dr. Bert R. Smith of the education department.

Golden Gloves To Attract Students

The Golden Gloves Tournament will be held at the Armory on the 27-28 of this month. It will be sponsored by Charles Garvin, the local promoter.

A three-day tournament will be held in Glasgow, Hopkinsville, Princeton, Russellville, Salem and Bowling Green. The winners of these tournaments will make up the Golden Gloves tournament, which it is anticipated, will be one of the largest and most thrilling of them all.

Together with Frank Griffin, some of the students of Western who possess pugilistic talent are expected to enter the tournament.

All boys who are interested in this tournament are requested to see Frank Griffin, who will supply them with a Golden Gloves entry blank. These blanks contain a set of rules that tell an entrant exactly what he must qualify to before he can enter the Golden Gloves.

Frank will also gladly extend his knowledge in instructing these entrants with the fundamental principles in the art of defense.

The winners of the Golden Gloves tournament will get a prize which has not been determined as yet, any they will also compete in the Southern championship contest held at Nashville.

Griffin is going to Glasgow tomorrow night to put on an exhibition to aid the amateurs of that city so that they can have a keener knowledge of boxing.

State Auditor Lauds Officials

Logan said the Western Teachers College plant, "while large and modern, has barely kept pace with the growth of the student body."

Mr. Logan's report also stated that Western's large enrollment "is not fortuitous or merely the result of location and external conditions. A strong spirit of public service pervades the entire faculty, extending to the class room as well as the published curriculum. The percentage of student failures is small."

Annual Bird Census Is Taken

On December 22 Dr. Gordon Wilson and a party composed of Western faculty members took the twenty-third annual Christmas bird census of the Warren county area. The results will be published in the February issue of "Bird Lore", national ornithological magazine.

The census was very low because of the scarcity of birds this year. Forty-six species and 2292 individuals were counted, the lowest number since 1931.

The party going from here was made up of Messrs. J. R. Whitmer, B. C. Cole, L. Y. Lancaster, Charles L. Taylor, Ezel Welborn, Haywood Brown, and Gordon Wilson. They were divided into three groups, two going up and down the river from Sally's Rock and the third covering Drake's Creek, Lost River, and Chaney swamp.

Dr. Wilson is the editor of "Kentucky Warbler" which is publishing the census taken all over the state. He says that all reports indicate a low census.

apipi. Margaret Meyer is a teacher in the Hazelwood school at Anderson, Ind.

J. Gordon Gaines is in the insurance business in Akron, Ohio.

Carrie Huine teaches English and music in the junior high school at Biloxi, Miss.

James F. Ramsey is the executive vice-president and secretary of the Washington National Insurance Company in Evanston, Ill.

Mr. Shepherd M. Walker, A. B., of the class of 1933, will soon close his work at the University of Louisiana and be awarded the Ph.D. degree.

Mr. Walker married Miss Christine Jenkins, also a former student of Western, several years ago.

Herald Finds Library Work Killing Students

ence number, and shuffles into the stacks. (Note 'shuffles', that detail is important.) He roams about, disturbing ardent conversations, until by pure coincidence, he finds his book. A long skinny arm reaches up and the body drops to the floor. Discovered hours later, the remains are swept under the stacks, and another student has 'dropped out' of school.

"That is the condition which exists in the very heart of this happy little college community. In a few days, the situation may become tragic. We suggest that immediate action be taken to curb the existing state of affairs."

(Editor's note: The Herald's special reporter, John P. Wiggletree, made a personal investigation of the situation and found that one may receive a slight electrical shock by shuffling over the floor and then touching a metal shelf or another person. However, some feel no shock what-so-ever.)
